

SEAL CENSUS NOW IS YEARLY

United States Counts Animals—
War Divides Profits With Japan and Britain.

The only herd of wild animals in the world of which a yearly census is taken are the fur seals of the Pribilof Islands, in the Bering Sea.

Once they numbered between six and six million, but they were slaughtered so ruthlessly for their skins that by 1908 there were less than a hundred thousand on the islands. They are protected by international agreement, and the herd is mustered and counted every year just like a flock of sheep.

The fur seal spends about two-thirds of each year far out at sea, making a circuit of 6,000 miles in open ocean without touching land. It comes to the Pribilof Islands in summer months to breed and rear young. As soon as the young are born the mother seal goes out to sea in search of food.

When the sealers were forbidden land on the islands they took to pelagic sealing—killing the animals in the open sea—and the seal's departure from the Pribilofs was their great opportunity. But it meant the loss of both mother and baby, and the whole sale killing of the females in this way brought the herd near to extermination.

After many conferences, the taking of seals was prohibited within a radius of fifty miles of the island, and the entire ocean closed to sealing from May to September. Then, when war broke out, Britain, Russia and Japan, anxious to fall in with any reasonable suggestion, agreed to give up sealing within the waters of the Pacific traversed by the Pribilof seals.

America, as owners of the islands, agreed to compensate the sealers for the loss they sustained, and to give Britain and Japan a definite interest in her sealing industry when it was revived.

All told, America expended $7,500,000 on her efforts to protect the seal, but it has been money well spent. Last year's census revealed the existence of 550,000 seals, and this year's count

Portland, Indiana.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and would often have to lie down because of pains. One Sunday my aunt was visiting and she said her girls took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well, so mother said she guessed she would let me try it. It is doing me good and I praise it highly. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial."

STELLA NEWTON, R. R. 3, Portland, Indiana.

Mothers—You should carefully guard your daughter's health. Advise her of the danger which comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, or overworking. Do not let her overstudy.

If she complains of headache, pains in back or lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, give her careful attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for your daughter to take, as it is especially adapted to relieve just such symptoms. Remember it contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in safety.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York — It may be, as its critics say, that prohibition has dimmed the brilliance of our Great White Way, but it is entirely possible that the more or less mystic realm is less intense than it was in "the old days." But it is certainly taking on size — length — with a rapidity which needs no alcoholic stimulant. We won't be able to signify it much longer by the words, "Times Square." Away up to Ninety-sixth street, it now takes its way, as selflessly undiminished, even its gayety is somewhat modified. Perhaps the quick transit is responsible. Perhaps we really needed more room for our evenings' frivolities. At any rate, theaters are being built up in that Seventy-second-to-Ninety-sixth district, restaurants are blooming, and limousines are as crowded as the songed and storied "Forty-second and Broadway" region.

—NY—

Eight million outgoing letters and half a million parcel post packages were handled in the New York Post Office one day before Christmas, establishing a brand new record for the city. Twenty-five hundred temporary clerks were added to the regular force for the rush season, and 414 motor trucks. Sixteen auxiliary stations were opened.

—NY—

It is surprising to hear that women of New York, and they may well be said to be representative of the entire country, do not "blow their own horns" enough. Miss Louise McMasters, head of the Employment Bureau of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association, which places more than 70,000 girls and young women yearly, complains that this diffidence on the part of women is a handicap. "Women underestimate the difference between bluff and self-confidence, between boasting and self-reliance. Nothing is more dangerous than a false impression. Yet women, by bending almost backward in their conscientious efforts not to make an over-statement, often belittle themselves and handicap their own chances. A financial expert says that women are too timid about selling their services and that a woman presents whatever she is trying to sell in a small way. This is the direct result of a woman's sheltered life and lack of experience in financial matters." To bear out this fact it is cited that women are selected ahead of men for employment bureau heads. They realize the reluctance of their sex to "sell themselves" and will go further in digging out their real qualifications than will a man. The men are also inclined to judge too quickly from appearances. The Y. W. C. A. has been one of the few national organizations with a well-defined employment department for women, and has functioned consistently through the ups and downs in our employment situation. Nearly fifty bureaus in almost a dozen cities are maintained. That is how to meet the situation demonstrated in the distribution poster, hung in the railroad station throughout the country, urging girls to stay at home as long as the unemployment situation remains at its high point.

—NY—

Norman Trevor, who made such capital prima donna's husband "Enter, Madame" last season, has produced another married problem play which has just opened at the Princess Theater, "The Married Woman." Mr Trevor himself plays the role of Hugh Bellamy, who proves "right" man, after "the married woman" has attempted matrimony with the wrong one. He is splendid, as always, and so is Margaret Dale, in the title role.

—NY—

The world of the theater may tend not to take too seriously the world of society and its glitter, but noted the line on the program of "Squaw Man;" "Diana, Countess Kerhill — Julia Hoyt (Mrs. L. Hoyt)." The parenthesis was what attracted my attention. Evidently the world of the theater thought it to add that Social Register to whether it had anything to do with playing of the part or not.

—NY—

Gotham is also interested in the nouncement that Ethel Kelly (Mrs. Frank Gould) will be one of the performers in an elaborate production of the Shuberts are bringing over from London, called "Pins and Needles." As the Frank Gould divorce case is not yet entirely settled, to Mrs. Gould's satisfaction, she is expected to be considerably occupied between legal and professional occupations while here.

WARSHIP IS RUNNING ADRIFT

Cherbourg, France, Dec. 31. — British battleship Vengeance, with a small crew aboard, is running adrift before a storm in the English channel this morning, in danger of collision with other craft or of running up on the shore.

The Vengeance, a vessel of 10,000 tons, was being towed by tugboats away to a shipyard to be dismantled. The tow lines parted in the storm last night, and the crew was unable to take control of the big ship.

Good Bye 1921

HERMAN ARN

SELL THE PART

It has been a year that most of us will never forget. Most of us are glad it's gone. We have all had our trials and perplexing problems to solve and I'm still on the job with the same old smile. I've made lots of new friends in old 1921 and I'm glad of it. I may have made some enemies. I don't know about this. I tried hard not to, but if I have I'm mighty sorry and am willing to do anything honorable to make amends.

As I grow older I notice conditions are changing. People are becoming more tolerant, more patient, more charitable, more tender and friendly. Friends, it's a good old world after all, and these are glad days. I take this opportunity to thank all my friends for their expressions of good will and patronage and I hope their kindness may never grow less. If it's a Farm, House or business deal I'm always read to serve you.

"It's the same old wish but none the less sincere,
